Symbol Key

CA = California Native: Californian native plants are adapted to wet winters and dry summers and may only need supplemental irrigation during abnormal dry seasons.

☆ = Summer Dry: Summer dry plants do not like to be watered in the summer. Supplemental water may be required during dry winters. Summer dry plants like water in late winter/early spring, during the plants growth period. Most California natives are summer dry.

💧 = Very Low-Water: For efficient use of water and to support plant health, place plants with similar water needs in the same irrigation zone. Once established, very-low water plants do not need irrigation, unless there is an usually dry year.

💧 = Low-Water: Low-water use plants perform with small amounts of supplemental water.

Note: Observe the health of your plants. Depending on different soil types, sun exposure and other environmental factors, once established, plants may or may not need additional watering.
